

I am NOT in favor of preempting state telephone privacy laws. Indiana's law has worked just fine for my wife and I. We have been quite impressed with the lack of telemarketing calls since being placed on the "no call" list. In addition to this, I am also generally in favor of leaving the majority of issues up to the states to handle for themselves, including telephone privacy laws.